SBS 2021 SIGNAGE LIST: 50th Anniversary Meterboards

“In the past, we the practice of emergency medicine did not exist.”

-Dr. Richard Slevinski (FCEP President 1983-85)

1968: ACEP founding members

- October 15, 1971: The Florida Chapter of ACEP is established. “Bill drove throughout Florida and literally knocked on ER doors to recruit our first members,” says Dr. Cliff Findeiss (FCEP President 1975-76)

- 1968: ACEP is founded by eight physicians & recruits its first 29 members, including Dr. William Haeck (first FCEP President 1971-72; ACEP President 1974-75)

Dr. Haeck's 1972 speech

Dr. Stimler in 1977

- 1972: Dr. Haeck gives the introductory address at the 1972 ACEP Symposium, outlining seven elements of the EMS system, as FCEP's first president
- 1973: Congress enacts EMS Systems, forming 9-1-1 emergency services
- 1974: FCEP hires its first executive director, Garry Briese
- 1975: The first emergency medicine residency program is established at UF Health Jacksonville
- 1976: ACEP establishes the American Board of Emergency Medicine (ABEM)
- 1977: Dr. John Stimler (FCEP President 1997-98) is part of the first class to graduate from Florida's first emergency medicine residency program
- 1979: The independent ABEM receives specialty board approval as the 23rd medical specialty in the U.S. from the American Board of Medical Specialties (ABMS) – but as a conjoined board

1983 Bill Shearer International ALS/BLS Competition at Clincon

1980 Clincon

Dr. Edelberg in 1982

- 1980: ABEM certifies its first emergency medicine physicians
- 1982: Dr. Jay Edelberg becomes the first FCEP president (1982-83) to be trained by an emergency medicine residency program. That program, UF Jacksonville, also became accredited
- 1986: The federal Emergency Medical Treatment & Labor Act (EMTALA) is enacted
- 1987: The first Symposium by the Sea conference, offering free CME and hosting the annual Board meeting of elections, was held in Marco Island. Beth Brunner begins her 33-year career as FCEP's executive director
- 1989: A decade later, ABEM is granted "Primary Board Status" by ABMS and can now pursue the development of subspecialty certifications

BY
333-

1991: In its 20th anniversary year, the Florida Chapter of ACEP closes on its first office building, becomes the first chapter to change its name to the Florida College of Emergency Physicians, and creates the Florida Emergency Medicine Foundation (FEMF) as a separate entity from FCEP to house educational and research initiatives

1992: ABEM approves the first two subspecialty certifications: medical toxicology and sports medicine

1996: FEMF receives ACGME accreditation as a primary sponsor of continuing medical education for physicians

1997: ACEP passes a resolution requiring members to be board-certified in emergency medicine or have completed an emergency medicine residency program

30th Anniversary Ball

Dr. Bill Haack & Eugene Nagel

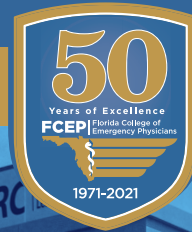

Dr. Sal Silvestri & Dr. Michael Zappa

2001: In its 30th anniversary year, FEMF becomes the third organization to receive accreditation from the CECBEMS (now CAPCE) to provide CEU's to pre-hospital care providers across the nation. The Capital Campaign for a proposed new building is also revealed.

2006: FCEP celebrates its 35th Anniversary at the Past-Presidents' Luncheon

Past Presidents' Luncheon (2006)

EMLRC Groundbreaking Ceremony

EMLRC Grand Opening Ceremony

2010: The Affordable Care Act includes emergency care as an essential healthcare benefit. In Florida, medical malpractice advocacy continues.

2013-14: "After many years of planning, we finally picked up shovels and broke ground on the new building. The old space was full of memories of good times spent together, but its useful days had run out."
- Dr. Michael Lozano, Jr. (FCEP President 2013-14)

January 2015: FCEP moves into the Emergency Medicine Learning & Resource Center (EMLRC). "My year was also memorable for the tremendous growth in the educational programs offered by the college and the foundation."
- Dr. Ashley Booth-Norse (FCEP President 2014-15)

2016: Six new emergency medicine residency programs receive accreditation and accept their first classes of residents (the Class of 2019)

2019: FCEP sends a record-breaking 21 Councillors to ACEP's Scientific Assembly

FCEP Councillors at ACEP 2019

March 2020: The COVID-19 pandemic becomes the primary focus of everyone's lives. Emergency physicians around the world are suddenly in the spotlight as they bring stories from the ER to the public and discover lifesaving techniques against COVID-19. Executive director Jonathan Dolan begins his career at FCEP.

FCEP Board of Directors (2018)

August 6, 2021: FCEP celebrates its 50th Anniversary and first in-person conference since the pandemic began at the Naples Grande Beach Resort.
